• Racism is part of our everyday lives from the interactions we have to the environments we are part of. Racism is the air we breathe.

• Anti-racism for children centers protection, affection, expectation, and connection.

• We must engage in R.I.C.H.E.R. actions through our self-inquiry and collective networks to combat racism.

• We are on a journey so continue to read, engage, lean in, and be accountable...doing nothing is condoning racism.

Take home message
Racism exists at multiple levels

Racism is the use of institutional power to organize around white supremacy AND the oppression, denigration, and dehumanizing based on skin color. This means that white people, people who look white, or whiteness based on language and culture benefit from this system and arrangement of power, privilege, and resources.

Whiteness is then regarded as beautiful, intelligent, worthy, and something to aspire to; thus maintaining the racist system.

- Adapted from Crenshaw, 1995; Lee, 1996
A set of automatic and uncontrolled cognitive processes that affect our attitudes toward others. These biases are thought to be involuntary and not under the conscious control of the individual and can lead to either favorable or unfavorable characterizations of others.

Dominant narratives about race (family, media, society) coupled with racialized structural arrangements and differential outcomes by race all prime us to believe that people of color are inferior to white people, create and maintain harmful associations, and lead us to make harmful assumptions, consciously and unconsciously, about people of color.

Race is created to justify enslaving people from Africa (economic engine of country)

Policies and practices that consolidate and protect power bestow unearned economic, social, cultural, and political advantage to people called “white,” and unearned disadvantage to people of color

National narrative (ideology, belief system) about people of color being “less than” human (and less than white) justifies mistreatment and inequality (white supremacy)

Inequitable outcomes and experiences resulting from policy decisions in health, housing, employment, education, and life expectancy - reinforces white supremacist beliefs and ideology; dominant narrative uses disparate outcomes as evidence of white superiority, promotes whiteness as “normal” and desirable and justifies inequality

Work must be RICHER!

- Integrate rather than just desegregate
- Critique everything
- Humility of privilege
- Erase racism
- Re-vision new ways, approaches, theories, teams...

Our country will be enriched by limiting the dehumanization of people and eradication of racism and bias in all aspects of our world, including programming, policy, & research.
Re-educate about racism

- A journey of re-education and self-inquiry is necessary

- Can engage in multiple ways:
  - Asking for and engaging in this webinar!
  - Google resources – books, videos, audios
  - Social media engagement

- Live and interacting with the discomfort
Critique everything you know and do.

- Question EVERYTHING: from how you became part of the organization to the house you live in.

- Think CRITICALLY about your workplace, community and even where you shop.

- Examine your work and underlying frame with regards to power and resources and interface with race, history and privilege.

- Engaging in critical discourse with a multi-racial network is crucial for decolonizing your work.
Humility is how we should approach this journey

- Many leaders are brilliant and have good intentions!

- Be clear about our privilege and how privilege and profession have been weaponized to maintain racist frameworks, policies, programs, and institutions, as well as outcomes.

- Be ok with critiquing current knowledge, and be humbled and empowered
Erase racism

- Expand process and teams that also shows the strengths and assets of BIPOC

- What is the purpose and value of your work and how much does it call attention to historical atrocities, injustices, and inequities

- Must make racism visible to eradicate it

- Must hold ourselves ACCOUNTABLE!!
Re-envision anti-racist programming,

- Examine whether your work is inclusive and anti-racist, as well as strengths-based

- Are there existing theories and approaches especially from BIPOC peers that have not been elevated in your work?

- Work on creating the condition to be anti-racist in all aspect of your life
