Making the Connections:
The 10th Annual Readiness Summit
Presented by Learn to Earn Dayton and Montgomery County
We are proud and hopeful, in celebrating the 10th anniversary of this gathering, that our community continues to be committed to working together to find the solutions to help our children succeed, in school and in life. In this handout, we have included next steps recommended by the presenters, along with opportunities to gather and keep these discussions going throughout the year. Filled with suggested book titles, films, scholarly articles, trainings, grant opportunities and contact information for local experts, we hope that this booklet itself becomes a well-used resource for you and your colleagues. Thank you for your work every day of the year and for joining us today.

—Robyn Lightcap, Executive Director

Poll Everywhere Instructions

Two times today, we will ask you to participate in a very quick survey, using your phone. To prepare, please text RSummit2019 to 22333 to join the group. You will only need to do this once; you will stay in the group for the rest of the day. You won’t, however, be able to respond to a poll until it has been activated by the speaker. And that’s how it will work: one of the speakers will ask you to respond to a question; you’ll respond by sending a one-letter text.

Featured Speakers

Dr. Shauna Adams is the Executive Director of the Center for Early Learning at the University of Dayton. This center is not a place but rather a group of initiatives designed to support early learning. Dr. Adams chairs the Family Engagement Collaborative of the Miami Valley and serves on several boards for organizations related to Early Childhood. She is an Associate Professor of Early Childhood in the Department of Teacher Education, where she teaches graduate and undergraduate courses in family engagement and early childhood research, leadership and advocacy. After 12 years in P-12 schools as a special educator and school psychologist, she earned a doctorate in early childhood from the University of Cincinnati. Since becoming faculty at UD, Dr. Adams has had the privilege of working as the liaison to the Bombeck Family Learning Center, the University of Dayton’s Early Childhood Demonstration School which has served as an inspiration for articles, books and presentations. She is a coauthor of the textbook, Developing and Administering a Child Care and Education Program as well as the ACCESS Curriculum series.

Jessica Davies is the Director of Social Emotional Learning Services (SEL) for the Montgomery County Educational Service Center in Dayton, Ohio. The SEL Division of the MCESC supports school districts with implementing whole-child focused initiatives including creating trauma sensitive schools, integrating systematic social emotional learning, prevention programs, staff wellness and consultation regarding students with intensive needs. Jessica is a licensed school administrator and school psychologist who has worked in school districts in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Ohio, serving both urban and suburban populations. She is passionate about sharing the latest evidence-based strategies, based on cutting-edge brain research, in order to help educators and students have the best chance of reaching their full potential.

Michael Carter has served as Senior Advisor to the President and Chief Diversity Officer at Sinclair College since 2015. Previously, he was Sinclair’s first Superintendent of the Division of School and Community Partnerships where he drove the increase in college credit options for high school students, increasing the number of students from 500 to almost 3,000 in five years. Over his 17-year career at Sinclair, Michael has served as Senior Vice President, Senior Director of High School Linkages, and Director of the Fast Forward Center, a nationally recognized model in dropout recovery. In 2010, Michael was awarded the National Dropout Prevention Center’s Crystal Star Distinguished Service Award. Michael serves on boards and committees of organizations including Dayton Early College Academy, Daybreak, Montgomery County Equity Fellows, Mentoring Collaborative of Montgomery County, Miami Valley Urban League and Dayton-Montgomery County Scholarship Program. He has been a radio-reading volunteer for Goodwill Easter Seals for many years. A former public school teacher, administrator and coach, Michael has over 36 years of experience working with youth. He holds a B.A. from Wittenberg University and an M.S.Ed. from Wright State.
Each breakout will be offered twice, once during each breakout session. Below is a quick-reference to the breakout locations, followed by detailed descriptions with recommendations you can take after the Summit.

1. The Power of Connection: Conscious Discipline

Connection empowers us to soothe our emotional state and opens us up to exercise our executive skills of learning and problem-solving. Connection is the power behind all change needed for our homes, classrooms, community and ultimately the world. Participants will learn a few simple steps to increase their ability to connect. (Room 116)

Facilitators: Joni Spencer, LSW, Certified Conscious Discipline Instructor; Susan Hampel, Preschool Promise, Certified Conscious Discipline Instructor

Recommended Next Steps

- Learn more about the power of connection through “Conscious Discipline”.
- Become a member of the free Conscious Discipline website, https://consciousdiscipline.com/.
- Schedule a conscious discipline training by contacting Joni Spencer, joni7betterways@yahoo.com or Susan Hampel, susanchaos2calm@gmail.com.
- Begin a coaching program – again by contracting Joni Spencer or Susan Hampel or going to the website.

Breakouts, continued

2. Culturally Responsive Teaching and the Brain

Culturally responsive teaching is an important pathway to closing the achievement gap for our marginalized students. Building on the work of Zaretta Hammond, participants will explore how the brain and learning intertwine. You will be introduced to new ways to engage culturally diverse students and recognize the value of seeing differences as benefits, rather than as deficits. (Room 282)

Facilitators: Maya Dorsey, M.Ed, MEDL, Director of Family Engagement and Community Partnerships, Learn to Earn; and Latoria G. Marcellus, M.Ed, Director of Quality, Preschool Promise

Recommended Next Steps

- “We would advise participants to begin to build genuinely authentic relationships with those who are different from themselves.”

3. Everybody in, Nobody Out; Engage All Families!

This session provides an opportunity for family service professionals and educators to explore strategies for building meaningful family engagement. Tips will be shared to help participants identify current barriers, develop family friendly and welcoming environments, and create more diverse and inclusive classrooms and centers. (Room 120)

Facilitators: Gayle Covington Fowler, Family Advocate & Engagement Consultant, Parent, Family and Couple Education Services (PFACES, LLC); Shauna M. Adams, Ed.D., Executive Director, Center for Early Learning and Associate Professor of Early Childhood Education, University of Dayton

Panelists: Jonelle Carroll, Kettering City Schools; Kathleen Moore, Dayton Metro Library; Michael Newsom, Montgomery County Fatherhood

Recommended Next Steps

- Reserve a Family Engagement System Self-Evaluation (FESSE) introduction to further family engagement strategies (See Resources, page 7).
- Develop a 4-6 week family engagement action plan that includes an equity statement.

Resources

- Fathers’ Involvement in Children’s Learning

4. Connecting with Traumatized Children: Relationships, Rewarding, Relevant, Repetitive, Rhythmic & Respectful

The development of a child is profoundly influenced by experience. Experiences shape the organization of the brain which, in turn, influences emotional, social, cognitive and physiological activities. Insights into this process come from understanding brain development. Based on a neurosequential understanding of brain development, the Neurosequential Model (NM) is a developmentally sensitive, neurobiologically-informed approach to clinical work, education, and caregiving. Educators will share their insights and offer concrete examples of interventions that allow students to self-regulate and become more engaged in the learning process. (Charity Earley Auditorium)

Facilitators: Jessica Davies, Director of Social Emotional Learning, Montgomery County Educational Service Center (ESC); David Paxton, Chief Clinical Officer, The Village Network; Jackie Renegado, Social Emotional Specialist & Occupational Therapist, Montgomery County ESC; Kaylee Reese, Intervention Specialist, Montgomery County ESC

Recommended Next Steps

- Ensure that you and/or your employees have an understanding of trauma and stress and how these factors affect the youth we work with, as well as ourselves. Work with consultants to identify the needs of your school/organization, regarding training and support.
- Use our recommended resources to become more knowledgeable and create learning communities around the topics that are most applicable to you and your organization.
- Understand that this is a paradigm shift for most organizations, and becoming trauma-sensitive is an ongoing process that takes time. But the results and rewards are truly life-changing.

5. Local Organizations’ Approaches to Equity

Attendees will learn about some exciting initiatives in the Dayton community that are addressing the needs of vulnerable youth and families. (Room 119)

Facilitator: Michael Carter, Senior Advisor to the President and Chief Diversity Officer, Sinclair College

Panelists: Robbie Brandon, Founder and CEO, Sunlight Village; Monnie Bush, Founder and Executive Director, Victory Project; Jonathan Cain, Founder and Executive Director, Future Stars of Dayton; Karlos Marshall, Co-Founder, Conscious Connect

Recommended Next Steps

• Identify strategies you can use to reach youth in your community – whether individually or in partnership with others.
• Volunteer with one of the organizations you learned about in this breakout:
  • Victory Project http://www.victoryproject.org/about/
  • Conscious Connect http://theconsciousconnect.org/
  • Future Stars of Dayton https://www.futurestarsofdayton.org/
  • Sunlight Village https://www.facebook.com/sunlightvillageinc/

6. Brain Development and Resiliency

We will examine the science of brain development, from prenatal to 3rd grade, and how that affects a child’s ability to learn. Then attendees will learn to use the knowledge of the effects of ACEs and toxic stress on brain development to establish meaningful relationships with parents and their children, with practical ways of changing the trajectory of a child’s life by building resiliency in the earliest years. (Smith Auditorium)

Facilitators: Dawn Selby, RN, BSN, IBCLC, Help Me Grow Brighter Futures; John C. Duby, MD, FAAP, CPE, Professor and Chair, Department of Pediatrics, Wright State University Boonshoft School of Medicine and Vice President of Academic Affairs and Community Health, Dayton Children’s Hospital

Recommended Next Steps

• Increase community awareness of evidence-based Home Visiting programs such as Nurse Family Partnership, Healthy Families America and Early Head Start. The goal of these programs is to intervene before a child is born and stay on the scene through his or her third birthday.
• Join us for our book discussion: The Deepest Well: Healing the Long-Term Effects of Childhood Adversity on October 24. See page 13 for details.

7. Don’t Assume, Ask: Getting Past Bias And On To Connection

We all have implicit biases that influence our interactions with others. If we want to make strong connections with families, students, and our colleagues we need to become aware of those unconscious biases and suspend judgment, ask questions, and take time to understand cultural differences. Attendees will learn how to manage biases and be intentional and curious about people who are different from ourselves. (Room 127)

Facilitators: Amaha Sellassie, MA, Assistant Professor, Sinclair College, Co-Director, West Dayton Strong; Carmen M. Culotta, Ph.D., Instructor of Psychology, Wright State University; Christa Preston Agiro, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Teacher Education, Wright State University

Recommended Next Steps

- Host a training in your organization with one of the local experts on equity and/or restorative justice.
- Host a listening session with students served in your organization to hear their perspectives.
- Have dinner with someone who is different from yourself.

8. State Advocacy for Equity

This breakout, presented by Groundwork Ohio, the statewide advocacy organization for early childhood education, will help you translate the critical work you do and share the stories of the families and children you serve with legislators to influence statewide policy. Want to know how you can have a direct impact on Ohio’s early childhood systems and the upcoming state budget? Groundwork will offer practical advice and resources to develop your advocacy skills and advance equitable outcomes for all our children. Groundwork used an equity lens to examine statewide data and will help attendees understand how to deliver powerful stories that reflect the local data and your experiences. (Room 133)

Facilitator: Lynanne Gutierrez, Esq., Groundwork Ohio, Policy Director & Legal Counsel

Recommended Next Steps

- Visit the Groundwork Ohio Equity Social Media booth at the Readiness Summit to take pictures and record short videos to share your story with our network.
- Join the Groundwork effort to amplify the voices of business and community leaders, teachers, providers, pediatric and mental healthcare professionals and child advocates. Stay engaged with timely updates by signing up for our “e-news” at www.GroundworkOhio.org.
- Follow @GroundworkOhio on Twitter and Facebook. Share your support for investing in Ohio’s early childhood education programs with on your social media accounts. Be sure to tag @GovMikeDeWine and @GroundworkOhio! Check out updated sample posts/tweets on www.GroundworkOhio.org/engage.
- Write a letter to Governor Mike DeWine thanking him for his thoughtful agenda and stressing the importance of making strategic investments in quality early childhood education. Check out our sample letter at www.GroundworkOhio.org/engage.
- Submit an op-ed or and letter-to-the-editor expressing your support for our shared agenda. Check out our tips at www.GroundworkOhio.org/engage.
- Attend Groundwork’s Advocacy Day at the statehouse on May 8 to educate policy makers about the benefits of and critical need for early childhood education. Get more information at www.GroundworkOhio.org/engage.
- Engage with your legislators in Columbus at the Statehouse or by planning a site visit to your program, using the Groundwork Provide Engagement Toolkit available at www.GroundworkOhio.org/engage.

Passport to Kindergarten Application for 2019-20 School Year

Sponsored by PNC Grow Up Great, Passport to Kindergarten is a year-long program that provides professional development to Preschool teachers of high-need children, while also offering enriching opportunities to their students and families.

Passport to Kindergarten’s focus is on creating a strong foundation for reading and helping families learn how they can teach their children at home. Teachers get training in dialogic reading and on sharing AWESome moments with their students.

What are AWESome moments?

- A stands for “Ask” your child questions.
- W stands for “Wait” for your child to think about his or her response.
- E stands for “Elaborate” on your child’s thoughts.

Passport to Kindergarten families also are involved in free learning opportunities sponsored especially for them at cultural institutions in the Dayton community.

For more information on becoming a Passport to Kindergarten classroom, visit https://learntoearndayton.org/passport. Applications are due on Friday, April 19, 2019.
Student Success Mini-Grant

Purpose
Student Success Mini-Grants support community partnerships focused on early learning and improving outcomes for students from birth to 8th grade and their families in Montgomery County.

Who Can Apply
Applicants may be a school district, childcare or Preschool provider, or nonprofit, but must represent a partnership of at least three organizations.

Due Date: April 19, 2019
Awards Announced: May 17, 2019

Grant Awards and Use of Funds
Grant awards typically range from $500-$8,000. They are for projects focused on issues related to equity and eliminating opportunity gaps, trauma informed care, brain development, social emotional learning, culturally responsive teaching, family engagement, understanding bias or attendance awareness. Grant funds may be used to purchase books and materials, offer stipends to teachers and facilitators, pay for meals for participants, etc.

Project examples include:
- Start a Professional Learning Community (PLC) around resources related to the grant focus areas
- Host joint trainings for district and childcare/afterschool staff
- Increase family engagement by providing family/parent listening sessions or training
- Create campaigns or initiatives to improve attendance of all students, with a focus on African American male students
- Develop efforts to provide systemic developmental screenings for children birth to age 3, or partner with parents of young children to train and empower parents to support their children’s learning at home
- Address suspension rates and alternatives for Preschool-8th grade students, with special attention to students of color, and implement proven strategies such as restorative justice.
- Partner with the local library to promote daily reading with parents of children birth to age five. Initiate summer reading programs to decrease summer slide.

Submission Instructions
Please email your Project Description, Project Budget, and Letters of Support to maya.dorsey@learntoearndayton.org.

1. Project Description:
   a. Describe specific project to be funded and timeline.
   b. Explain how the project will close the racial equity gaps, improve quality and participation in preschool, improve kindergarten readiness, summer/afterschool learning or reduce chronic absenteeism.
   c. List of partners who will help develop and implement the project. Include Letters of Support from at least two additional partners.
   d. Projected outcomes and measurements - how will you know if you are successful?

2. Project Budget
Additional Resources, continued

Book Discussions will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the Downtown Dayton Metro Library, 215 E. Third Street, Dayton 45402. RSVP for the Book Discussions at learntoearndayton.org/books
